Choose from Fields of Interest

The degree programs and certificates are organized by Fields of Interest. These Fields of Interests are clusters of programs that fit within a similar area of study. The intent of selecting a field of interest is to help you choose a path based on your future goals, knowledge, skills and abilities. A field of interest helps you narrow down your choices and begin developing an educational plan that leads to degree or certificate completion.

Communication Arts, Humanities and Fine Arts Division (847) 543-2040, www.clillinois.edu/programs/eng

You've placed into ENG 100/121. Here's how you choose your classes: Your placement means that you would benefit from extra instruction and support in reading and writing in order to do well in college classes. In this learning community, you take the required college composition course, ENG 121, while enrolled in a small companion class, ENG 100, with four other students. ENG 100 is taught by your composition instructor and will provide you the extra help and support needed to grow as an academic reader and writer and to develop stronger student skills.
